

Shiloh Sorbello

Shiloh Sorbello has been affiliated with WCS since 2005, when his wife (Samantha) was teaching at the high school. Shortly thereafter he got involved in coaching at WCS and was the varsity boys' basketball coach for two seasons. Samantha has since "retired" to be a full-time mom, but she is frequently seen taking pictures at school events. Shiloh and Samantha have been married since 2004 and have four daughters, three of whom are WCS elementary schoolers and the youngest likes to tag along on field trips until she is old enough to be a student.

Shiloh grew up in Davis and attended local public schools. After graduating from Davis High School, he graduated from UC Davis with a B.S. in Managerial Economics and a B.A. in Spanish. He then moved to San Francisco for law school at UC Hastings, where he obtained a Juris Doctorate and passed the California State Bar Exam. Then, inspired by teaching opportunities he had during law school at Esparto High School and a San Francisco middle school, he went back to school and completed the UC Davis School of Education teaching credential program. He obtained preliminary single-subject credentials in Social Sciences and Mathematics and enjoyed student-teaching at CA Jacobs Middle School (in Dixon) and his alma mater, Davis High. After obtaining his teaching credentials, he decided to put his law degree to use and got a job, where he still works, in Marysville as a Deputy District Attorney for Yuba County. Along the way, Shiloh has continued coaching high school basketball and has been the WCS varsity girls basketball head coach since 2013.

The Sorbellos are actively involved at First Baptist Church of Davis and teach Sunday School in the kindergarten class. Shiloh sees WCS as an invaluable asset to the Yolo County community (and beyond) and is blessed to have served on the school board since 2011. After serving six years, five of which as the Board President, Shiloh termed off for one year but was happy to return the following year (2018). He is committed to the mission of WCS, grateful for the school staff and families, and excited for the future.

Jack Hamlin

Jack Hamlin has been affiliated with Woodland Christian since its inception in 1974. He and his wife, Jan, had the privilege of being part of the founding of WCS. Jack was the initial Administrator and Jan, a kindergarten teacher. Jack served in that position through 2004, when he became the Executive Pastor of Valley Church in Vacaville, where he presently serves.

Jack did undergraduate work at Biola University and graduated from Sacramento State. He began his career as an elementary teacher in the Bay Area. He has served in the Association of Christian Schools International in various capacities such as Accreditation. He has coached, and was involved in the development of each level of the school.

Jack and Jan have three children, Julie, Jimmy, and Holly. They each went through WCS and now have the privilege of sending their children on the same course. The Hamlins are firm believers in Christian education and feel blessed to be part of a school where Christ is preeminent. Each of them are involved with the school in various capacities.

Jack is serving his second term as a board member. His commitment goes without saying. WCS is deeply ingrained in his life.

Debbie Simpson

Debbie Simpson is passionate about Woodland Christian School and the lasting impact it has on the students and families. It was through this ministry, starting in second grade and attending through ninth grade, that Debbie first became a Christian and grew in her faith with the support and nurturing of her teachers and then administrator, Jack Hamlin.

In the early 1990's Debbie returned to WCS as an educator; teaching 2nd and 3rd grades at the elementary school; and girls P.E., geography and algebra I at the middle school. However, in 1995, Debbie's husband Eric accepted a job that took them to San Diego for nearly ten years.

In late 2004, a job transfer for Eric brought their family back to Woodland. This time, Debbie returned to WCS as a parent, enrolling their four children at WCS. It didn't take long, however, for her to join the staff again, first as an aide and substitute teacher, then as an afternoon kindergarten teacher, and currently, as the part-time human resources coordinator. Debbie also served as the secretary on the WCS Board from 2010-2015, returning again to serve in 2016 after a year off.

As a student, a parent, a staff member, and board member, Debbie feels blessed to have seen so many lives impacted by the love of Christ through the education offered at WCS. She considers it a complete honor to serve on the board and see firsthand how God is working in the lives of our students and staff.

Eric and Debbie have been happily married 25 years and have four children; two in college and two at WCHS. They are actively involved at LifePointe Church, where they lead a small group and Debbie serves on the worship team.

Sergio Jaime

Sergio Jaime was born to a migrant working family in Woodland, CA and grew up attending public schools both in Woodland, CA and Guanajuato, Mexico, since his parents would migrate to Mexico every winter. He accepted the Lord at the age of 15 years old and was baptized shortly after, in a Pentecostal Assemblies of God church. He attended UC Davis and UC Berkeley, after graduating from Woodland High School, before transferring to Capital Bible College (now a part of Northwest University of Sacramento) and earned a Bachelor's degree in Ministerial Studies. He married his wife of over 20 years and began working for Pacific Bell, now AT&T, and is currently an Area Manager in their Operations organization. He attended New Life Community Church (NLCC), where he served as a youth ministries director over ten years and also served on NLCC's church board.

Sergio continued his education, through the University of San Francisco, and attained an undergraduate and graduate degree in Information Systems, with a Security emphasis, in their School of Business and Professional Studies. He has been affiliated with WCS since 2004, when his oldest (of two) daughter began kindergarten at WCS. She graduated in 2016 and is currently attending San Diego State University. His younger daughter has also attended WCS since kindergarten and is now a Junior at WCHS.

Sergio is currently a member at LifePointe Church in Woodland, where he serves on the men's ministry leadership team. He is also a coach with Davis Alliance Soccer Academy (club soccer), and has been serving on their board and web administration, since the club's inception in 2010.

He loves to serve the community through his coaching involvement, and church participation with missions, both local and abroad. He has participated in many mission's trips to the Navajo Nation in Arizona and once to Haiti. He is excited to be a part of the Woodland Christian School board, as he has seen the value of a Christian education through his two daughters and their friends.

Chris Johnson

Chris Johnson has been affiliated with Woodland Christian School since his children started to attend in the fall of 2011. At the time, Chris and his family were returning to the Sacramento area after a 7 year stay in Southern California. Chris and his wife Heidi have been married for 17 years and have 5 children that all attend WCS.

Chris graduated from Sacramento State in 1993 and has worked as a Professional Pharmaceutical Representative for Abbott Labs and Abbvie Pharmaceuticals for 18 years. Although Chris has been aware of who Jesus is for his entire life, it wasn't until about 2002 when he felt Jesus calling him to a full relationship of knowledge, trust, and surrender through the Savior of the world. Upon going to his first small group with his church, he recalls that he was nervous because "What if they ask me a question from the Bible and I don't know it, will they kick me out?" Well, there were no questions and he was never kicked out. Instead, God used this experience for Chris to build a foundation of faith in the Lord Jesus Christ!

Since his first experience with small groups, Chris has led multiple groups over the last 10 years as well as teaching Sunday school for kids for 5 years. Then in 2014, Chris and his wife answered the call to quit their good jobs and move to Central America with their kids for a year. While abroad, he and his family lived among the local people and taught English, music, and held marriage conferences while teaching the gospel. Upon his return God provided a job for him in his previous company. Now, back at his home church of LifePointe Church in Woodland (since 2012), Chris serves as the men's ministry leader.

Chris loves how Woodland Christian School places a priority on preparing children for a life of service to our Lord and Savior. While Chris and his family reside in Sacramento, he calls Woodland home and he is honored to serve the children, parents, and staff of Woodland Christian School.

Jen Klier

Jennifer Klier was raised in a small town on Whidbey Island in Washington State. She graduated from Western Washington University in Linguistics and ESL. Upon graduation she began ministering with Chi Alpha Campus Ministries. In 1999 she moved to California to serve with Chi Alpha as a U.S. Missionary to UC Davis.. In 2002 she began serving as the primary director of Davis Christian Fellowship and in 2005 she married Will and continued to oversee the ministry. Jennifer is an ordained minister with Assemblies of God and for the last 18 years she's mentored hundreds of young women through her work as a missionary. Nearly 40 of their Davis alumni have served a year or more on the missions field and hundreds continue to serve Jesus in the marketplace, homes, and places of influence.

Jennifer has a passion for healthy living in mind, body and spirit and for seeing people set free by the love of Christ. Jennifer's main focus is mentoring young women and raising her three children. Through the ministry at UC Davis Jen connected with now Superintendent of WCS, Justin Smith as a student. She admired the work of WCS for years and in 2013 was able to enroll her 3 children. They are beyond grateful for the community of Woodland Christian School and the tremendous positive impact it's having on their children.

Megan Plamondon

Megan was blessed to grow up in a Christian home in the beautiful town of San Luis Obispo. She committed to Christ at a young age and enjoyed being a part of children and youth ministries throughout childhood. After graduating from high school, she attended Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and San Jose State University completing a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering, and two years later became a licensed civil engineer. Megan met her husband Scott in a college ministry and they were married in 2001. After a brief stay in the Silicon Valley they moved to Yolo County to raise a family and are happy to have called both Davis and Woodland home since 2002. Megan currently works part-time as a project engineer with Cunningham Engineering, as well as supporting her husband's law practice, Plamondon Law Group. Megan and Scott have two sons, Alex and Owen who are involved in many activities with WCS and the greater community.

Megan's affiliation with WCS began when her children started attending the elementary school in 2013. Prior to that time, Megan provided her children with a home education, but longed to be part of a larger school community. Since joining the WCS community the entire Plamondon family has been blessed beyond expectation by the families and staff, and the tireless love they pour into the school and local community. Megan considers it a great privilege to be part of a school where Christ is honored, and faith is interwoven into all aspects of learning. She looks forward to serving alongside so many gifted parents, teachers and staff and investing in the Cardinal community for many years to come.

Megan and her family are members of First Baptist Church of Davis and have been involved as a family in various ministries including small groups, women's bible studies, children's ministries, worship team, and youth group. She also has been blessed over the years by the preschool and MOPS programs at University Covenant Church in Davis and the woman's Bible Study Fellowship group in Vacaville, among others.
